

ARE YOU A TRAINEE IN THE FIELD OF HUMAN MILK AND LACTATION? Join Us!

ISRHML
The International Society
for Research in Human Milk and Lactation

ABOUT US

Greetings from the International Society for Research in Human Milk and Lactation (ISRHML) Trainee Interest Group (TIG)!

ISRHML TIG is a suborganization for trainees within ISRHML, a vibrant and growing non-profit organization dedicated to the promotion of research excellence in the field of breastfeeding, human milk, and lactation.

APPLY TODAY

To apply, please submit the following:

1. Letter of application

A brief letter (4-5 sentences) stating your institution, training program/level, supervisor, and project. Please indicate how the project is related to breastfeeding, human milk, and/or lactation.

2. CV or resume

Visit www.ISRHML.org to learn more about membership and to submit your application. For any questions related to trainee memberships, please contact the TIG Governing Committee at tiggovcommittee@gmail.com.

We look forward to welcoming you to the ISRHML TIG!

1

Who can become a Trainee Member?

Undergraduates, graduate students, and post-doctoral fellows who are participating in research related to breastfeeding, human milk, and/or lactation.

2

What are the benefits of becoming a Trainee Member?

- Career development support for trainees
- Professional development webinars
- Quarterly newsletters
- Opportunities to promote your work on social media
- Leadership and networking opportunities
- Slack channel to connect with other trainees and ISRHML members
- Funding opportunities for trainees, in collaboration with the Family Larsson Rosenquist Foundation to support travel, learning, and exchange at host institutions abroad.

3

How much does it cost to become a Trainee Member?

The World Bank classification is used to determine annual membership fees.

High-income economies: $42 USD

Middle-income economies: $21 USD

Low-income economies: $10.50 USD

